NASDA Approves Resolution for Immediate Relief

A resolution backed by Agriculture and Forestry Commissioner Bob Odom won overwhelming support at the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture (NASDA) annual meeting in Norfolk, Va., last month.

The resolution, urging USDA to make Section 32 funds available to farmers immediately following a disaster, is the same as one introduced by Odom at the Southern Association of State Departments of Agriculture (SASDA) meeting in June. SASDA members voted unanimously to support the resolution.

"Because so many states have been affected by disasters, whether it's drought or hurricanes and flooding, the commissioners are speaking in unity to speed up the disaster relief funding process. If we had money designated in Section 32 that could be dispersed immediately following a disaster then some of our farmers could actually stay in business," Odom said. "Low-interest loans are always the first mechanism in place and that just doesn't cut it. The farmers need direct payments or grants."

Odom blames the bureaucratic process of creating programs and distributing funds for the terrible delays in farmers receiving money.

"All the red tape associated with the creation of rules and regulations to disperse funds is crazy. We've had disaster after disaster and the process never speeds up. The funds can be dispersed via Section 32 without rules and regs being drafted every time," he added.

Odom said he is disgusted by the inefficiency in parceling out disaster money because Louisiana producers began planting in early spring and they didn't know when or how much assistance they might receive.

"Some had to make the tough decision not to return to the fields and that hurts us all. We need our food and fiber produced domestically in order for us to remain a world power. We do not need to depend on foreign countries to feed us and that will happen if farmers don't receive prompt assistance following a disaster," Odom said.

Section 32 funds were established in 1935 to aid farmers following the Great Depression. Historically, the funds have been used to help farmers move their commodities through markets and to reestablish farmers' purchasing power. How those goals are accomplished is up to the USDA Secretary. In recent years the Secretary has used portions of Section 32 funds in the wake of natural disasters.

Odom said he and other commissioners also passed a resolution supporting Farm Bill legislation that continues payment programs for farmers.

Commissioner

SPOOKTACULAR HALLOWEEN TREATS

www.recipegoldmine.com

Swamp Water Juice

Mix a couple drops blue food coloring into orange juice to make it swamp green. Fill a latex dish washing glove with water and stuff with multi colored gummy bears. Freeze until solid. Peel glove off and let the "corpse" hand float in the swamp water. The frozen hand looks white like a dead hand and the gummy bears make it look even more rotten.

Mummy Eye Balls

4 hard-cooked eggs
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1/2 tsp. paprika
Salt to taste
4 pimento-stuffed green olives

Cut through each hard-cooked egg about 1/3 of the way from the tip, just enough to scoop out yolk. Place cooked yolk in a bowl and mash with a fork. Add mayonnaise, paprika and salt to taste. Mix thoroughly. Fill each egg white with mixture. Smooth yolk mixture. Press olive into yolk mixture with pimento facing out. Cut just enough of the other end of egg to create a flat surface so that egg will stand on end. Serve upright.

Brain Dip

1 whole cauliflower
Your favorite spinach or dill dip
Radishes
Assorted raw vegetables
Crackers for dipping

Cut florets from the top of the cauliflower until you have a cauliflower "bowl." Remove greens from bottom. Cut stems from radishes, leave the root and remove skin. Using wooden picks and food coloring, draw an eyeball on the flat part of the radish (where the top was). The root will look like the optic nerve. Fill cauliflower with dip, garnish with radish "eyes," and serve with veggies and crackers.

Bloody Fingers

1 package ladyfinger cookies
Raspberry jam
Confectioners' sugar
Almond slices

Place the ladyfingers on a tray. Spread with raspberry jam. Place an almond slice at the tip of the finger. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and serve.
